

DU Learning Guide

Digital Photo Sharing

"My family seems closer when we can share our photos."

What's it all about?

If you take photos with a digital camera, it's easy to share them with friends and family using the Internet, even when they are far away.

We recommend a tool called Picasa for this, which you can get free from the Internet. You can also use it to copy digital photos from your camera to your computer, organise your photos and make slide shows. You can even edit photos, cropping them to different sizes, making them lighter or darker and dealing with the dreaded 'red-eye'.

Try this

You won't be able to try out all the features of Picasa in a short taster session, but you can see an online demo as follows:

- Type picasa.google.co.uk into the address bar of your browser
- Press Enter to display a web page about Picasa
- Click on the link (i.e. the underlined words) Picasa Web Albums
- On the next page, click on the link Learn More about Picasa Web Albums

Note that if you wish to use the Picasa website to share photos online, you will have to download Picasa software to your computer and then register and provide an email address.

For how to do that, see Learning Guide: Download and Use Picasa.

More websites to explore

Flickr

www.flickr.com

The biggest photo sharing site.

KODAK Gallery

www.kodakgallery.co.uk

Lets you order KODAK prints online and has facilities for photo sharing.

Photobox

www.photobox.co.uk

Similar service to KODAK Gallery.

Royal Photographic Society

www.rps.org

For those who take their photography seriously.

Zoomr

www.zoomr.com

Links to a wide range of sites selling products and services related to digital photography.

