

What’s it all about?

BBC Local provides 60 different websites for each area of Great Britain and offers you the chance to find out what is happening in your part of the world. You can be sure to find relevant information about your region and keep up to date with the latest news, sport, travel and weather for the locations that interest you. You can even find out more about people and places in your area as well as read great articles about nature and history.

How to find your Local site...

The easiest way to find one of the many BBC Local websites available to you is to start at the website’s homepage.

- Type www.bbc.co.uk/local into the address bar at the top of your internet screen.
- Press ENTER to display the BBC Local homepage.

- You can now choose from one of the many areas you wish to read about.
- When you position the arrow pointer over the name of the place it will become underlined, then by simply clicking on the name you can display that website.

- If you aren't sure which website covers the area most local to you, then you can type in a UK postcode, city or town name into the small box at the top of the page titled 'Find your local site'.
- Or, you can select which part of the country you want to look at on the map from the right hand side of the screen. Click on the area you want and you will then be on that site.

What to do when you visit a BBC Local site...
